In Memoriam

To Charles Drengburg, who was killed in action in Korea on December 6, 1950, we dedicate this 1951 edition of "The Viking."

Charlie, we seldom were so formal as to call him Charles, graduated from Gibraltar in June of 1950 and immediately enlisted in the United States Army. He was a fellow player, a swell sport, and we know, above all, an excellent soldier.

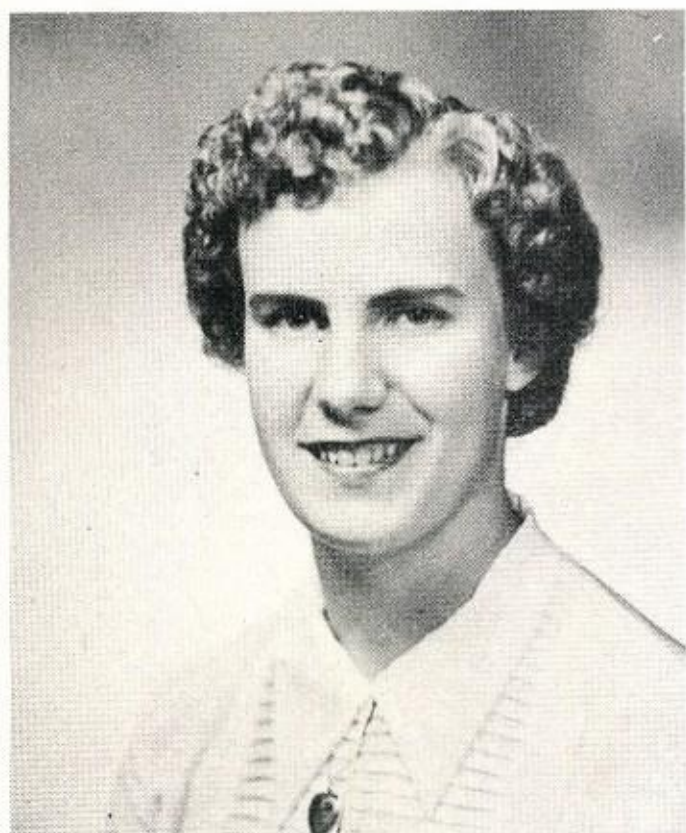

Charlie gave his life for a cause, a cause that includes football and basketball, free education, the right to live and do as we please—the cause for freedom. We here at Gibraltar all miss Charlie with his quiet ways and his subtle jokes, and we will never forget him, both for just being himself and for the supreme sacrifice that he made for each of us.

CLASS PROPHECY

As we, the members of the Class of '51, near graduation, we see a shadow which, on approaching, resembles the very stately being, Future. He leads us to our very beautiful city which is called "Opportunity." There he shows us this hazy view: (Some of us are going to dread this.)

We first visit the home of learning. The building makes us stare in awe as it is one of these modern streamlined things. But, what is all the shocking language we hear? Ahhh—we see it is Orville Henry, putting his boys through some stiff practice. He uses the method most coaches do to get results. We then enter the school and prepare to disturb the teachers as they go about their duties. Among them are Jane Stenzel and Barbara Logerquist. Jane is instructing a Home Economics class on how to make a good, delicious fried chicken. Right then we decided that we had better move. It tempts us. We amble down the hall to where Barbara is illustrating shorthand curves. English flourishes under the capable direction of Deonn Linden. Orval Orsted puts the Chemistry class to sleep with his formulas. Daniel Honold is smothered in the shavings of his FFA class. We hear that he specialized in this kind of work because there were no girls.

A velvety smooth lawn sprinkled with gay flowers greets our eyes as we go up to the hospital, now located in Sister Bay, Wis. The elevator man, Lloyd Wesa, tells us that Billy Resler and Billy Reinhard are responsible for the entrancing effect. Their greenhouse is well-known throughout the town. In the hall, we meet Nancy Fitzgerald busily mumbling something about proteins. We gather that she is the dietician here. Up in the operating room, Daniel Wagner, a distinguished doctor, and his efficient nurse Marjorie Seaquist are carefully working over Harold Larson who was hurt when his plane crashed on a non-stop flight to Australia. Delores Prust operated the switchboard. It seems someone (?) is anxious about Harold.

Becoming somewhat weak from the odor of ether and anaesthetics, we decide to continue our inspection of the fair city, and leaving the hospital we amble down Main Street to the corner of Fifth and Cedar where we are confronted with the New Progressive Art Studio. Inside Audrey Sohns is posing for Barbara Ekman and Eugene Olson as they sketch a cover for the magazine "Vike-ette" owned by the Journalist Lorraine Honold.

After leaving the studio, we notice an imposing new office building. Ascending the stairs, we find in his office Everett Kita, the respectable lawyer, dictating some facts of a case to Joann Berns, his secretary.

When we are convinced that Everett is dogmatically applying himself to his work (?) we continue to the department store owned by Edward Knudson. The first person we see here is Eddie, himself, now one of our most distinguished citizens—in a conference with Herbert Johnson, head floor-walker. At a nearby counter, Yvonne Olsen selects a tie for her husband. Marie Merkle is assisting Marilyn Abrahamson, another housewife, as she purchases something.

Leaving Eddie to his money-making, we stroll down the avenue and pick up a few more interesting bits of gossip about the class of '51. Bob Shine is building a new home for his wife, Barbara. Ellen Ahrens is the Door County Home Agent. Arlene Reith is selling tickets at the beautiful and spacious theater of Roger Ohnesorge. Russell Wagner is a wrestling match announcer over WMAM. Douglas Logerquist is on a tour getting ski clubs organized. Hubert Jorns brings the products of his sanitary dairy farm to the Dairy Bar of Dale Seaquist where Katherine Koepsel works as his stenographer. At present, Dale is sleeping.

Charmaine Nelson is the owner of the Cozy Nook. Her assistants are Donna Erickson, who specializes in manicures; and Bona Deremo, who is excellent at the modern fingerwave. Sam Hanson is driving a semi for his brother "Ole," who is owner of the Hanson Transportation Co. Darrell Jacobson is now owner of a ranch in Texas called "The Sway Back."

Bette Shine is a winner in the latest swimming contests. She gives instructions in graceful diving in her free time. We overheard this when we entered the shop of Carolyn Erickson. She delights over her latest Parisian styles designed by Dawn Sitte and modeled by Judith Nelson and Florence Daubner.

We leave that place and walk to the drug store where Veronica Goss is serving Duaine Lundquist a soda as he rests from his job of building a home for Iris Nelson and her husband. (We wonder who.)

John Carlson is the engineer for the broadcasting station IOU. We are told that he is now vacationing in Florida. In his spare time Dean Champeau cites his favorite recipes which he uses in his daily work as chef. Here Arlene Wesa gives advice to those unlucky persons who are inclined to be overweight. In a few minutes, Mary Lou Langemak goes on to give a piano recital. We know everyone is going to enjoy it. We recognize the deep voice of the announcer as that belonging to Kenneth Pluff. He also takes part in a drama every day. Some programs are sponsored by Peter LeMere, who manufactures a drink he calls "Pete's Pep-up."

The policeman, Charles Jaman directs us to the daily paper. As we wait in the luxurious lounge, we see Gordon Berkhahn and Donald Anderson come to see the manager. Having been asked by the manager to remodel his home, they have some plan to show him. At present, he is having a conference with Patsy Mann, a reporter.

As we go to the Malzahn Restaurant, we pass the taxi center owned by Kenneth Wickman. Future tells us that he has just one more view to show us but that it will require the use of a taxi. Robert Evenson gives us a quick ride to the airport. On the way we pass The Candy Kitchen owned by Lucille Brungraber. Just as we reach the airport a huge passenger plane lands, and we see Lorraine Kusch aiding the passengers. She is the stewardess.

The Shadow, Future, then leads us back to our own school again. And—we must confess some of us are really surprised.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY CAST

First Row: Marilyn Abrahamson, Marjorie Seaquist, Veronica Goss, Jane Stenzel, Mary Lou Langemak.
 Second Row: Lorraine Honold, Bette Shine, Lorraine Kusch, Miss Mykleby.
 Third Row: Dale Seaquist, Hubert Jorns, Bob Shine.

Sixteen in August

Gusty Goodrich (Lorraine Honold) a hearty girl who'll be sixteen in August, has been told she must spend her entire summer vacation at home for taking her Father's (Dale Seaquist) new car without his permission and smashing it. However when the Doctor discovers that Lil Stone (Bette Shine), a friend of Gusty's is reading his medical books that Gusty had loaned her, he becomes furious. He becomes even more furious when he finds out that Effie McCann (Jane Stenzel) is doing the dishes for Gusty. Mrs. Goodrich (Marjorie Seaquist) wants to take Gusty to her Grandmother's for the summer, but the Doctor objects. Carol Dean (Deonn Linden) an invalid girl, is brought to the Doctor's home by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dean (Veronica Goss). Gusty and Arthur Peterson (Hubert Jorns) are given the job of building up the invalid's morale with the help of Miss James (Lorraine Kusch), the nurse and Asis May (Mary Lou Langemak), the maid. Duke Weatherby (Bob Shine) and Cynthia Thornton (Marilyn Abrahamson) turn out to help Gusty and Arthur, make her stay at the Goodrich home, more enjoyable. In the end, Doctor Goodrich sees his daughter, Gusty, pretty admirable even though she does not strictly conform to his rather old fashioned ideals. Gusty having proved to everyone's satisfaction that her methods are effective in the long run, is allowed to assume a fuller measure of adulthood in the eyes of her family and friends.

Instruction!

After practice.

Our PROM was terrific

The Junior Prom of 1950 was a success and an evening long to be remembered. The largest crowd in Prom History crowded the Gibraltar Gymnasium to watch King Harvey Malzahn crown Marilyn Abrahamson, Queen, while Duke Janda's Orchestra played "Echoes."

The Theme of the Junior Prom was "Sunset in Palm Gardens." The sunset canopy together with graceful palms, beautiful flamingos and the lily pond set the atmosphere for the dancers. The Junior Prom owes much of its success to the ability of the Prom Chairman, Mr. Hervey Hauser, and the sub-chairman, Eugene Olson.

Gibraltar opened the 1950 football season with mid-August practice. Thirty-seven candidates accepted invitations to join the squad and worked out for three weeks before the opening game at Pulaski. The squad was built around thirteen lettermen from the 1949 team and employed the T and single wing offensive formations.

Letter awards made to the 1950 squad were made to Ends—Sam Hanson, Bill Hanson, Douglas Logerquist and Bob Shine; Tackles—John Fitzgerald, Charles Jarman, Norman Larson, and Bruce Patza; Guards—Donald Anderson, Everett Kita, and James Stadler; Centers—Dean Champeau and Bill Beyer; and Backs—Dean Albrecht, Jack Bunda, Orville Henry, Peter LeMere, Roger Lent, Robert Peterson and Dan Wagner. Of this group, 10 will be back next season. Anderson and Sam Hanson were elected honorary co-captains, and Russell Wagner and Jerry Fisher awarded manager letters.

The DIAMOND Champs

Nine lettermen formed the nucleus of the 1950 baseball squad. The Vikings, defending Peninsula conference and Sturgeon Bay District Champions, prepared for a nine game schedule in frigid, damp weather and opened season play against Sturgeon Bay early in April.

Gibraltar smashed the Bays around handily in the opening innings and was leading 7-0 in the third when the game had to be called because of a severe rain storm.

Games with Freedom and again, Sturgeon Bay, were eventually cancelled because of the extremely bad weather, and the Vikes were forced to open conference play with only part of one practice game under their belts. With Clayton Moegenburg pitching 5 inning no hit ball, the Vikes downed a visiting Luxemburg team 13-2.

Moegenburg and Art Strege combined pitching talents the next week at Casco for a 10 to 0 no hit victory over the Comets.

Moegenburg gave up only one hit in crushing the Mishicot title hopes on the Two Rivers diamond 4-1.

Brussels ended up the Vikings fourth victim without much of a fight, losing 13-0.

Conference play ended on the home diamond against the ancient rival Sevastopol as the Vikes won the game and their second consecutive conference championship 4-2.

Defending their District championship at Sturgeon Bay, Gibraltar lost in extra innings to DePere 2-3 to end season play.

Letter awards were made to Seniors—Jim Hanson, Clayton Moegenburg, Bruce Schneider, and Orville Shine; Juniors—Sam Hanson, Charles Jarman, Douglas Logerquist, Peter LeMere, Harvey Malzahn, Bill Resler, Bob Shine, and Dan Wagner; and Sophomores—Dean Albrecht and Moreland Fandrei. Neil Anderson and Tom Goss were awarded manager letters.

Duchess, Audrey Sohns; Duke, Donald Anderson.
Attendants: M. Mann, D. Albrecht, S. Daubner, R. Lent, M. Scholl, J. Parent.

The Queen's Float led the parade.

It was a GREAT Success!

Homecoming celebrations started with an enthusiastic opening of a pep rally Thursday afternoon and the traditional bonfire and snake dance on Thursday evening, October 19, 1950. The pep-band entertained many who attended.

Excitement about the coming game with Brussels spread through the school. For the first time in many years we had a parade consisting of floats representing school organizations and classes. The parade began at 12:30 and wound its way through the village of Fish Creek and back to the football field. During the half it paraded across the field followed by the band. The game ended victoriously in favor of Gibraltar, 38-7.

The celebrations were brought to a glorious close with the Homecoming dance. The crowd, thrilled with the day's victory over Brussels, danced to the music of Stan Stanford. Reigning over the Homecoming was Duchess Audrey Sohns and Duke Donald Anderson.
